Western Presents Broadcast At 9:30 Tonight From WSM

IS MEMORIAL TO
JNO. H. CLAGETT

Shakespearean Drama Is Theme

3 EPISODES SLATED

Nine Students Appear In Casts

Western will broadcast a Shakespearean program as a memorial to the late Prof. J. H. Clagett, teacher of Shakespeare on the Hill, from the WSM broadcasting studios in Nashville this evening from 9:30 to 10:00 o'clock.

This will be the fourth such annual broadcast that Western has given on the Teachers College of the Air series under the auspices of Peabody Teachers College, Nashville. Dr. Gordon Wilson, head of the Western English department, is the program director.

Three dramatic episodes, under the direction of Prof. J. Reid Sterrett, will be presented. These episodes will be excerpts from "Romeo and Juliet," enacted by Mary Frances Ford, Doris Hawke, and Chester Hayscraft, from "As You Like It," enacted by Gene Rybicki, Roy Vance, Anthony Janis, and Bill Cox, and from "Macbeth," enacted by Louise Updebach and Zach Hill.

Prof. Sterrett will act as a radio narrator.

Western's string ensemble, under the direction of Prof. Chester Champion, will furnish music for the program.

Mr. John Lewis, staff musician for WSM, will sing a solo as part of the memorial program. Mr. Lewis, former Bowling Green boy and Western student, was a student of Prof. Clagett in Shakespeare.

Father Of Librarian Succumbs On Dec. 17

Dr. Thomas O. Helm, 78, father of Miss Margie Helm, head librarian, died at 2:40 p. m. December 17 in Norton Memorial Infirmary, Louisville. He had been in the infirmary since shortly before Thanksgiving, when he underwent an operation there.

Funeral and burial were held in Bowling Green, where he had lived since 1910, on Sunday, December 19. Dr. Helm had engaged in the practice of medicine for fifty years, beginning the practice at Auburn, this county, and continuing after he moved to Bowling Green. He had retired from active practice ten years ago and was owner of the Helm Hotel here.

In addition to his daughter, Dr. Helm is survived by three sons, J. B. Helm and T. O. Helm, Jr., Louisville, and Harold H. Helm, New York, and by a brother, John C. Helm, Bowling Green.

ROTC Opens Rifle Competition With Indiana U. Team

The ROTC rifle team is expected to open its series of competitions when it meets the University of Indiana on the rifle range here today or tomorrow.

Robert Chenoweth seems to be out in front in competition among members of the Western team. Others chalking up good marks are Woodrow Wilson, Robert Todd, and Howard DeLacy.

Other matches to be held this month are with the University of California and the University of Dayton between January 10 and 15, and a match with the University of Maine between January 16 and 20.

Miss Sybil Stonecipher, Western faculty member, spent her Christmas vacation in Indianapolis, Ind.

Art Exhibit Of Student Work Is Department Plan

The department of fine arts plans to present its second exhibit of the term at the end of the semester. This exhibit will consist entirely of the work of Western students.

Work in the following mediums will be displayed: linoleum (block prints), pastel, finger paint, sponge (figures), and wood (carvings).

The exhibit will be in the art display room, Cherry Hall 300.

MUSEUM GIVEN BOX DUPLICATE

Copies Of Material On Display

A box containing exact duplicates of the materials placed in the base of the statue of the late Dr. H. H. Cherry is being prepared and will be placed in the Kentucky Museum of the college, according to a recent announcement by J. R. Whitmer who acted as chairman of the statue committee.

The complete list of items included in the box follows: A complete list of contributors to the statue fund, photostats of letters from Lorado Taft, sculptor; copies of letter used in the fund campaign; contracts; reports of expenses; coins; photograph of the statue; photograph of floral offering at Ogden vault; photograph of guard of honor in auditorium; colored picture of the statue; Christmas cards sent to Dr. Cherry by the faculty in 1933; autographed photograph of Dr. Cherry; article in April, 1937, College Heights, "A Greater Kentucky," 1913; declaration of principles and aims, 1913; "An Educational Creed," by H. H. Cherry; "Catechism," by H. H. Cherry; a pamphlet on the Physical Education Building; an article addressed to the citizens of Bowling Green and Warren County; "Education: The Basis of Democracy," by H. H. Cherry; "Our Civic Image and Our Governments," by H. H. Cherry; pamphlet on the Farmer's Chau-

'The Cardinal Press' Issues First Edition

A new name has been added to the list of papers which herald activities on the Hill—THE CARDINAL PRESS—published "from time to time" as a work project by the typing students of the Training School.

The first edition of the new journal "hit the street" just before the Christmas vacation.

In this first issue of the Press there are news items, a calendar of events, a column of chatter, athletic notes, advice to the love-lorn, and original literary compositions by the students.

Contributed to the first issue were two poems, by Eleanor Guttman and Sara Thomas. Joline Wilson is editor-in-chief.

TEACHER SUPPLY NOT EXCESSIVE

Willey's Study Reveals
'Balance'

Contrary to popular belief, there is not a great excess of high school teachers as compared to the annual demand in the state, according to a survey made by Dr. Warner M. Willey of the education department and just published by the State Department of Education.

The survey dealing with the supply and demand of white secondary school teachers in Kentucky for 1936 and 1937 states that there is an actual scarcity of some teachers in various areas while there is an excess supply in others.

Agriculture Field Balanced
Fields of under-supply, the study reveals, are home economics, industrial arts, economics and sociology, mathematics, and English. The fields showing the greatest over-supply are chemistry, fine arts, French, geography, and physical education, while the field of agriculture seems nearest balanced of any high school subject in Kentucky.

The entire secondary school teaching field is now experiencing a rapid revision, Dr. Willey finds, due to the new certificate provisions of 1936. The history of certification of teachers in Kentucky has passed through many stages of development in the 86 years of its existence. Beginning in 1851 with oral examinations in counties, there was a gradual emergence into a written examination, then one based on college credits, and, finally, the present stage of centralization in the office of the State Department of Education.

Some pertinent facts listed in the study are:

10,412 Teachers Certified
There are fifteen colleges and universities in Kentucky which offer courses leading to teaching in secondary schools. In none of these is there a great excess of supply over demand.

There are now 10,412 valid high school certificates in Kentucky. "Nearly one half of these will expire in four years. Within a period of four or five years at most, under the present law, all these undesirable types of certificates will have expired, leaving only those who are qualified to teach under the present certification laws. This will probably reverse the balance of supply and demand unless more secondary teachers qualify than are now doing so.

The present balance in Kentucky is fairly satisfactory. Counting those trained in colleges out of the state together with those trained within the state there is an excess supply over demand. Eliminating those trained in colleges out of the state, the demand is greater than the supply.

A 15 per cent surplus is necessary to insure a satisfactory teaching personnel according to authorities.

This survey of Dr. Willey's is a part of his doctor's dissertation and is being published as an official bulletin of the State Department of Education with a foreword by Harry W. Peters, Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Stickles Attends Historical Meet

Dr. A. M. Stickles, head of the history department, attended the annual meeting of the American Historical Association in Philadelphia during the holidays. Over 1200 delegates gathered for the meeting.

Dr. Stickles attended both the historical and the governmental sections of the conference.

Few Students Are Infected, TB Test Figures Indicate

According to reports of the health officers in charge of the tuberculosis clinic held at Western during the second week of December, Western students showed a low percentage of positive reactions to the test for tuberculosis infection.

Out of the 1,150 students to whom the test was administered only 15 1/2 per cent showed a positive reaction, which is only about half the number of infections usually found, a member of the clinic staff stated. No report has been received on the X-ray pictures made of those who showed infection.

The clinic was fostered by the State health officers, Warren County health officers, and the college.

LANCASTER TALKS ON 'Hereditary In Man'

Featured on Western's broadcast for Tuesday, December 7, was Dr. L. Y. Lancaster, professor of biology, who spoke on "Hereditary In Man." Greetings were then extended to various communities in the Cumberland Mountains by Mrs. Harvey Murdock and Dr. Earl A. Moore.

Music for the broadcast was furnished by the brass sextet consisting of Frank Blair, Donald Kroll, Dale Grabill, Carl Schwuchow, Tony Mastroleo, and Robert Chenoweth.

Students Of Violin Give WHAS Program

Western's broadcast for January 4 was a program of violin music under the direction of Mr. Hugh Johnson, violin instructor, and Mr. Franz J. Strahm, piano instructor.

Students performing were Frank Yarbrough, Barbara Ford, Norma Lagura, and Mary Chisholm.

SIAA Tournament Opens Here Mar. 3

Western's Physical Education Building will again be the site of the S. I. A. A. tournament, when the outstanding teams of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association meet on March 3-5, 1938, to decide the basketball championship of the group.

Decision to hold the tournament in Bowling Green was reached at the convention of the S. I. A. A. held at Coral Gables, Florida, on December 17.

An outstanding success when it was held here for the first time last year, the tourney is expected to prove increasingly popular with local sports fans.

L. T. Smith, chairman of Western's athletic committee, was elected vice president of the group, representing the Kentucky district, in the Coral Gables session. Other officers selected for the 1938 season were:

'THE MESSIAH' GIVEN DEC. 12

Oratorio Presented By College Chorus

"The Messiah" by George Frederick Handel was presented by the College Chorus and some special soloists on Sunday, December 12, in Van Meter Auditorium with John N. Vincent, head of the music department conducting.

Mrs. Wallace McGinley, soloist fully met the exacting requirements of her role, revealing lovely soprano voice and delivering her passages with accuracy and lightness. Charles Helton revealed a remarkably fine voice with his interpretations of the tenor part, and Corrine Jessop, contralto, brought to her part a voice of soft, even quality.

C. O. Evans, Jr., bass, who is a student at Western, heightened the reputation that he has gained among local musicians in his numerous appearances on College Heights.

The College Chorus in its responsiveness to Mr. Vincent's direction and the College Orchestra in the difficult music of the score also did much to make this rendition of the oratorio a noteworthy addition to the musical life of Western and the community.

'Messiah' Featured On WHAS Broadcast

On December 14 excerpts from the "Messiah" by Handel were given by the College Chorus and Orchestra under the direction of Prof. John N. Vincent, head of the music department.

Solo parts of the "Messiah" were sung by C. O. Evans, Jr., and Myrtle Page. The broadcast was closed with Prof. Franz J. Strahm's playing of Christmas carols on the chimes.

During the intermission, the Modern Choir, under the direction of Jim Arnold, made its initial appearance on the Hill. Other outstanding artists who gave entertaining performances were Jimmy King and Jo Nell DeShon, tap dance numbers; and Nellie Jacks, novelty acrobatic dance numbers.

Selection of the queen of the Military Ball, which was initiated this year, is expected to become a regular feature of the annual event.

'Maker Of Dreams' Presented By Guild

"The Maker of Dreams," a one-act play by Oliphant Downs, was presented by the Bowling Green Players' Guild on the regular Tuesday broadcast from Van Meter Hall on December 28.

The play was presented by three characters, Juanita Wade, Chester Travelstead, and Dr. Earl A. Moore, at the regular hour for Western's programs over WHAS, Louisville. Mrs. Philip E. Binzel acted as director.

President Paul L. Garrett, Coach Carl "Swede" Anderson and Mr. Smith were Western's delegates to the convention on December 17.

WHO'S WHO?—YES, THIS IS ANOTHER TEST BUT IT'S FOR SENIORS ONLY

How would you like to take a test today and grade your own paper in 1938?

If you are a senior who will be graduated in either June or August, 1938, that's what the Herald is asking you to do. Write on a sheet of paper—any kind will do—the names of ten seniors of the class of 1938 who are most likely to be recognized for outstanding achievement in their professions by the year 1968. Then when you are satisfied with your selections, sign your name to the list and drop it in the box at the desk of the main reading room of the Library.

This is not a popularity contest. Nor is it a scholarship contest, though both popularity and scholarship may well be considered in your selections. It's a test of your ability to recognize ability.

Rules for the test are: (1) Only seniors who expect to be graduated in 1938 are eligible to take it; (2) Only seniors now enrolled at Western and expecting to be graduated in 1938 are eligible to be selected; (3) Each list of selections must be legible, and must be signed by the senior who turns it in; (4) All lists must be in by Wednesday, January 12, at noon.

Brief biographies of the ten seniors selected will be published in the Herald this spring.

MILITARY QUEEN CROWNED DEC. 10

Cordelia Eggen Reigns At Military Ball

By John M. Givens

Cordelia Eggen, Louisville, was selected queen of the fifth annual Military Ball Friday evening, December 10, in the gymnasium of the Physical Education Building.

The queen was selected from a field of seven candidates, named by secret ballots cast by Western students. Miss Eggen was crowned queen of the ball by Cadet Lieutenant William Payne who was her escort for the grand march. Her six attendants were Martha K. Lampkin, Margaret Gunn, Ann English, Jane English, Irene Groves, and Elizabeth Stickles.

Miss Eggen was presented with an arm bouquet of flowers by Sidney Carpenter.

Mrs. Elizabeth Plummer, honorary captain of the Pershing Rifle Company, presented a saber to Clyde Downey, captain of the Pershing Rifles. The pledges of the rifle unit were presented with blue and white pledge ribbons.

Many former students attended the ball as this was the homecoming for all ROTC graduates.

The hall was decorated to represent the lawn and porch of a colonial home and the Red and Grey orchestra, which furnished the music, was seated on the porch. Colors of red, white, and blue were used in the decorations.

During the intermission, the Modern Choir, under the direction of Jim Arnold, made its initial appearance on the Hill. Other outstanding artists who gave entertaining performances were Jimmy King and Jo Nell DeShon, tap dance numbers; and Nellie Jacks, novelty acrobatic dance numbers.

Selection of the queen of the Military Ball, which was initiated this year, is expected to become a regular feature of the annual event.

Herald Rates 'First' In News Story Contest

The Herald took one first, one second, and one third place among the five contests conducted by the Kentucky Intercollegiate Press Association at its annual fall meet which was held December 3-4 at Morehead Teachers College, Morehead, Ky.

First place was awarded the Herald entry in the news story contest, the placement of second was won on an editorial, and "third" award on a sports story. The Herald entry failed to place in the feature story contest; and due to a misunderstanding, no entry was submitted in the advertising contest.

Principal features of the Morehead meeting were the address of Dr. J. B. Shannon of

Martha Manning Begins Term As Maysville Judge

Martha T. Manning, only woman attorney in Maysville, Ky., who began her four-year term as Maysville police judge on January 3, received her A. B. degree from Western.

Miss Manning, who will be 30 years of age this month, is a native of Helena, Mason County. She received the LL. B. degree from the University of Kentucky.

OGDEN ALUMNI BANQUET HELD

Ward Sumpter Elected
1938 President

At a banquet held during the Christmas holidays many of the alumni of Ogden College, merged with Western in 1928, held their annual meeting in Bowling Green. In the concluding part of this banquet meeting Ward Sumpter of Bowling Green was elected president of the group for 1938, succeeding William H. Natcher, local attorney.

Dr. Oscar Bloch, Louisville, was elected vice president; J. T. Orendorf, Bowling Green, secretary; and Herbert Moltenberry, treasurer.

Retiring President Natcher presided at the meeting at which John B. Rodes, former mayor of Bowling Green, spoke on General William F. Perry, teacher at Ogden for 17 years; Dr. Bloch spoke on Major William Alexander Obenchain, member of the Ogden faculty from 1879 to 1916 and past president of the college; Judge R. C. P. Thomas spoke on accomplishments of Ogden; and President Paul L. Garrett of Western made brief remarks.

Dr. J. L. Topmiller gave the invocation. Bill Hardin, former janitor of the college, called the banquet to order by ringing the old Ogden bell.

Triplett, Gill Are Made Grid Leaders

At the annual football banquet held December 4 in the dining room of Potter Hall, the squad elected Tommy Triplett of Ironton, Ohio, senior, captain of the '38 gridmen. Joe Gill, Gary Ind., was chosen alternate captain.

After the banquet a dance sponsored by the "W" Club was held in the gymnasium. Music was furnished by the Red and Grey.

Tailisman Contract Let
The contract for the printing of the 1938 Tailisman was let just before the holidays to the McQuiddy Printing Company of Nashville; J. C. Cantrell, editor of the annual, stated yesterday.

DIDDLEMEN TO BE FAVORITES

Vandy Quintette Not Up
To Par

LINEUP IS CHANGED

Next Home Game To Be
January 15

Western's Hilltoppers, with a total of ten victories and only a single reversal to their credit are scheduled to appear in Nashville tomorrow night against Vanderbilt's Commodores.

The Hilltoppers who scored a 27-25 triumph over Southeastern Missouri Teachers on Monday evening, appear to have reached what approaches their expected playing form this season, and will go into Saturday's game favorites to trounce Vandy. The Vanderbilt five, defeated twice by Western last year, has only one of their last year's five regulars returning and have yet to show any real form in the current campaign.

Coach Diddle's line-up for Saturday's game with Vandy is expected to be slightly different from that which has started most of the preceding games. Sadder and Hackett will probably start the forward berths, with McCrocklin at center, and Dudgeon and Stemm holding down the guard posts. Walters and Cherry, forwards, and Robinson and Ramsey, guards, will handle most of the relief duty.

A lack of stamina and experienced reserves showed last Monday evening after the Toppers led the Missourians 16-7 at half-time and allowed the Indians to slip up to within a point of a tie as the game neared its conclusion. Dudgeon, however, sank a free throw to give the Hilltoppers their two-point winning margin.

Following the Vandy tilt, the Hilltoppers will remain idle until Thursday evening, January 13 when they engage Tennessee Poly at Cookeville, Tennessee. On Saturday, January 15 Western plays its first home game of 1938 against Evansville College.

Roland Leaves School

Jess Roland, a Junior at Western, quit school during the holidays. The reason for his departure is yet unknown. Roland was a regular forward on the championship Hilltopper net team. With his leaving Western's chances for tournament victories again received a severe blow.

Time Will Tell

JANUARY 7, 1938

AN ARTIST SPENDS HOURS, WEEKS, YEARS Perfecting a line, a tone, or a phrase. Then "practical" men recognize its beauty and respond to it but doubt the value of spending their time and labor in that manner.

To such as these the production of the oratorio, "The Messiah," by George Frederick Handel on the Van Meter auditorium stage meant nothing so far as their appreciation of its value was concerned.

But let them examine life as it would be without the laborious processes which supply the beautiful things of the world, let them reduce life to those things which they regard as "worth-while." When they have learned to appreciate life without the work of the artist, they will have learned to appreciate the excellence, the talent, the sheer beauty of the Chorus' rendition of "The Messiah" though they do not understand the subtleties of the technique by which it is produced.

And for those on the Hill and in Bowling Green who understand the artistry of the technique, its value is redoubled.

RECENTLY MANY OF THE STUDENT PEACE groups which "struck" so earnestly for peace in the last few years have decided that, after all, they might be willing to fight under certain conditions; and it is hard to tell whether this is an evidence of greater appreciation of the real problem of war and peace or just an insane shift to another extreme.

Whatever the present attitude of the students may be, there can be no assurance of peace so long as the old emotional appeals are used. It is too easy to prove that one is fighting for a good cause; and once one is started in a good fight, it is not easy to become disentangled when the conditions become reversed.

Peace, if it is to be lasting can never be founded on emotional appeals for support; and the soundest argument is not an argument for peace. It is an argument against the futility of war.

War only entangles things. A war must be settled by peaceable means—after the war. Why not begin where the war ends?

THE NEW YEAR IS A GOOD TIME TO MAKE resolutions and a good time to break them, too.

One of the greatest failures of educational systems is not their failure to build certain attitudes in youth but their failure—through inability, perhaps—to destroy some of the individual's habits and subconscious resolutions to resist change and to "let well enough alone."

Check

The Herald is attempting a survey of the books students at Western read. The results of this investigation will be published in the last issue of the Herald for this semester which is to appear January 21.

Printed below you will find a list of one hundred books which, according to the National Council of Teachers of English, hold a prominent place in literature. Check the books on this list that you have read by circling the first letter of their titles, leaving those you have not read blank. Then bring this list to the Library and place it in the box which will be provided at the main circulation desk.

At the end of the list below will be found five blanks in which you may write the names of five books which you think should have been included in this list. From these selections the Herald will compile a list of student recommendations and publish a composite list later. One Hundred Significant Books selected by the Committee on College Reading of the National Council of Teachers of English.

Cabin Is Replica Of Pioneer Home

By Sterrett Cuthbertson

The Pioneer Log Cabin, one of the most unique structures on Western's campus, is practically completed.

Its location is ideal, being situated in a beautiful setting on the western side of the Colonial Gardens in close proximity to the Kentucky Building. Built of heavy hand-hewn logs with shake roof, stone chimneys and wide-throated fireplaces, random flooring pegged down in keeping with the old traditions, a spill rail fence, it is a replica of some of the early homes of our forefathers.

The great open fireplace with its andirons, pots, crane and baking stone, the long rifle and powder horn hanging above, the spindle and loom in the corner, the home-made cherry bedstead and table, the ash-hopper beneath the eave of the roof, serve to recall to the student or interested visitor a day that is gone.

Twelfth Night, with a formal party on the campus. Guest of honor were Mr. John Vincent, head of the music department and Mrs. Vincent. In the receiving line besides the guest of honor were Miss Marjorie Clagett and Miss Ruth Moore, sponsors, and Walter Pease, president.

The club carried out the traditional custom of the French Twelfth Night: A cake of the Kings in which a doll is concealed, cut by the oldest person present, served by the youngest person after a piece, La Part Dieu, has been laid aside for the poor.

The one who gets the piece of cake with the doll is King or Queen, and chooses a King or Queen. Mr. Vincent found the doll in his slice of cake and chose Mrs. Vincent as his Queen. After the ceremonies Mr. and Mrs. Vincent gave talks in French about the French Twelfth Night. After the speeches the etrennes, or New Year gifts were presented.

Greetings were given by Carl Wade, president of the Cherry Country Life Club, and by Sarah Louise Ray, president of the Iva Scott Club. These were followed by greetings from Miss Marie Adams, head of the home economics department, and from Dr. M. C. Ford, head of the Ogden department of science.

Games were followed by unique impersonation of Prof. Quiz of radio fame. A group of the boys gave a presentation of the Big Apple to the accompaniment of a band which featured C. O. Evans, Jr., on the jug. Osborne Burd rendered several numbers, one being two-tone whistling of Star Dust, and the club quartet sang several numbers.

A social hour in which dancing predominated, followed the serving of refreshments.

SPORTS

By Robert L. Fay, Herald Sports Editor

This issue I am undertaking a most difficult task. It concerns a man new on the campus whom I have admitted for a long time. I have learned what a many-sided and versatile fellow he is.

No, you're wrong, he isn't one of Coach Diddle's star has been, he doesn't lay on the tenor team, isn't one of Professor Sterrett's prize melodramatic players, hasn't won the state oratorical championship (and if he now you're thinking that it is the writer, you're wrong also). In fact, although he played football last year too, he wasn't a star performer. The lad I'm referring to will have you all hanging on the rafters before he finishes college; I mean our friend from Gary, Indiana, the chap with the most unpronounceable name in seven states (ask Professor Sterrett about that) Nick Latkovic, I wish I knew his middle name, but it's stupendous—Latkovic.

The King Is Dead, Long Live The King

INTRAMURALS ARE REVIVED

'Belter' Table Tennis Tourney Stated

Thinking the intramural program had died for lack of student support, the editor listed it among the lamented deaths of the year 1937, but with this vigorous revival attempt he believes that something may yet be accomplished in the way of increased student participation in games. The intramurals were dead, but long live intramurals—Editor.

The intramural sports program, which began before the holidays with a table tennis tournament as the first event, is to be revived for 1938.

The program as announced by the physical education department will include a new and bigger table tennis tournament, organized in two divisions, one for the more accomplished players, the other for the less experienced.

Handball and wrestling will in all probability be the other individual sports which are offered. The wrestling bouts will range in weight from the lightweight to the heavyweight events. These events are in charge of Coach W. L. Terry.

After the close of the varsity basketball season volleyball and basketball will be offered to those interested in these sports. In the spring tennis, track, and field meets will be held.

The officials in charge of the intramurals are hoping for a large number of participants in each of the events as this is necessary to insure the success of the program. Organization plans are tentative and may be changed at a later date.

Crafts Club Plans State Organization

The Arts and Crafts Club discussed the organization of a state Industrial Arts Club at its meeting on December 13. No conclusion was reached, but plans were considered for organization of high school Arts and Crafts Clubs by former Western students and placing them under the general supervision of the club on the Hill.

Tuesdays At 3:30

On January 11 Western's broadcast over WHAS will be a presentation of narrative dramatization of music, the subject being "My Old Kentucky Home."

The geography department will present the broadcast on January 18.

ROTC SMASHES BAND 14-0 IN GRID CLASH

The Western ROTC unit defeated the Western band on Saturday, December 4, in the Western stadium in the first annual gridiron clash of the two departments. Both sides presented well coached aggressions and the game was exciting throughout, with Coach Winlock Moore's Army boys finally subduing Coach Freeman Christophers' valiant musicians 14-0.

Army stars in the fray were Gale and Taylor in the backfield, and Major and Pettit in the line. Pedigo and Griffler were outstanding for the band.

FROSH SQUAD IS CUT TO TWENTY

Eight Games Are Scheduled For Season

The Western freshman basketball squad has been cut to a permanent number of 20 hopefuls. The undefeated, unscathed, and also unencountered baby Hilltoppers have been doing nicely under the watchful eyes of Coach Edgar Stansbury and his assistants.

The 20 squad members, some of whom will be the future varsity, consist of Calnes, Price, Borroni, Powell, Fulk, C. Taylor, Downing, Towery, Skaggs, Mays, Holpp, Reid, Dew, Proctor, Griffey, Primrose, Gruesser, Dossey, and Gardner.

A schedule is being arranged by Athletic Director Carl "Suede" Anderson. Eight games have already been booked:

January 10, Lindsey Wilson at Columbia, Ky.
January 13, Tennessee Polytechnic at Cookeville, Tenn.
January 18, Murray, there.
January 21, Lindsey Wilson here.
January 22, Murray, here.
February 5, Murray, there.
February 8, Tennessee Polytechnic here.
February 21, Murray, here.

All dates of the Murray schedule are subject to change.

BOOKS DONATED TO KY. LIBRARY

Gifts Made From McGregor Plan Fund

All of the publications of the University of Michigan were a recent gift to the Kentucky Library, the gift being made possible through the McGregor Plan Fund of which the Kentucky Library is a beneficiary.

These publications include a wide variety of materials, many being beautifully bound and illustrated. Among the books are numerous doctors' dissertations and treatises of a scientific nature.

Of special interest to the Kentucky Library, according to Mrs. M. A. Leiper, librarian, are the following: "The Sir Henry Clinton Maps," compiled by Randolph G. Adams, is a valuable bibliography. These maps were used by Sir Henry Clinton while in command of the British Forces operating in North America during the War for Independence, 1775-1782. Ralston Hayden gives an account of the development of the treaty-making functions of the United States Senate during their formative period, 1789-1817, in "The Senate and Treaties."

"The Papers of Lord George Germain," by Randolph Adams, gives an interesting brief description of the Stopford-Sackville papers now in the William M. Clements Library. An interesting study, which provides new material upon Lexington and Concord and the treachery of Benjamin Church, Jr., is put forth by Allen French in his book, "General Gage's Informers."

The entire series of the Papers of the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts, and Letters which has twenty-one volumes, is quite notable.

Of the University of Michigan's History and Political Science series, there are volumes six to ten inclusive.

The entire Humanity series which is complete in every detail, has thirty-eight volumes.

Among miscellaneous books of tremendous value are: "Persian Bookbinding of the Fifteenth Century," by Mehmet Ago-Oglu; "English Rule in Glascony, 1197-1259," by Frank Burr Marsh; "Whip Snakes and Racers," "General Mastichopsis and Columbar," by Arthur Irving Ostermberger; and "Neo-Babylonian Business and Administrative Documents," with transliteration, translation,

TOPPERS TAKE MISSOURIANS

Stubborn Rally Leaves Score 27-25

The once-climbed Hilltoppers fought off a furious 18-point rally staged by a diminutive Cape Girardeau aggregation to win from the Missouri teachers by 27-25 Monday night in the Missourians' stronghold. The sensational rally fell two points short as Western put up a stalwart goal defense.

The Toppers, led by Harry Sadtler, the Summershade sensation, who vanned the scorers with 13 points, went into the lead near the start and held it throughout the game.

The stubborn Missouri basketballers dogged the "dogs" of Sadtler in the last half, however, in such an effective manner that he was able to score only two free throws.

The Cape Girardeau boys tabbed, first and went into a short-lived 3-0 lead with a minute gone, but this was soon dispelled by Sadtler, who sank a field goal and a free toss to give Western a lead which was never lost.

Captain Harold Kiehne of Cape Girardeau kept the Indians in the running with 3 points, but the "scalpers" could never pull ahead.

Long range work in the second half accounted for the majority of the Indians' points. They pulled up at 22-18 when Hub Shroyer came through with 10 counters. Coming back again the Indians, through goals by Harold Kiehne and George Godwin, came within one point of Western. Then Ralph Dudgeon, fearing for his scalp, led the game with a free throw on Godwin's foul at the 45-second mark.

used by Sir Henry Clinton while in command of the British Forces operating in North America during the War for Independence, 1775-1782. Ralston Hayden gives an account of the development of the treaty-making functions of the United States Senate during their formative period, 1789-1817, in "The Senate and Treaties."

"The Papers of Lord George Germain," by Randolph Adams, gives an interesting brief description of the Stopford-Sackville papers now in the William M. Clements Library. An interesting study, which provides new material upon Lexington and Concord and the treachery of Benjamin Church, Jr., is put forth by Allen French in his book, "General Gage's Informers."

The entire series of the Papers of the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts, and Letters which has twenty-one volumes, is quite notable.

Of the University of Michigan's History and Political Science series, there are volumes six to ten inclusive.

The entire Humanity series which is complete in every detail, has thirty-eight volumes.

Among miscellaneous books of tremendous value are: "Persian Bookbinding of the Fifteenth Century," by Mehmet Ago-Oglu; "English Rule in Glascony, 1197-1259," by Frank Burr Marsh; "Whip Snakes and Racers," "General Mastichopsis and Columbar," by Arthur Irving Ostermberger; and "Neo-Babylonian Business and Administrative Documents," with transliteration, translation,

GEORGE BIBICH RATES ALL-KIAC

C.—J. Also Gives Cook, Williams Berths

With the close of the 1937 football season many All-KIAC teams have been chosen by various sports writers. Several standardized selections, the Associated Press eleven and the Courier-Journal All-KIAC team, have honored Western athletes with positions. Although the Toppers have enjoyed one of their best campaigns in recent years, Western failed this year to place as many athletes on these two teams as they have of former years.

George Bibich, the Toppers' sterling halfback was the lone Western man to be selected on the Associated Press team while Williams and Alternate Captain Joe Cook made the Courier-Journal team. Murray came through with an "All-Opponent" team which included three Western athletes, Sam Panepinto, Clarence Caple and Joe Cook.

The Kentucky Intercollegiate Press Association moved this fall to inaugurate an annual selection of an All-KIAC team by the sports editors of the various colleges in the Association. These selections have been forwarded to the president's office, but the results of the tabulation have not yet been revealed.

In addition to the athletes selected on the Courier Journal and Associated Press teams below, the following Western men were given recognition. Associated Press, second team, Cooper, Caple and Williams. Associated Press, honorable mention, Batsel and Panepinto. Courier Journal, second team, Caple, Cooper and Bibich. Courier Journal, honorable mention, none.

Appearing below are the All-KIAC teams chosen by the Associated Press and the Courier Journal:

| Associated Press | Pos. |
|-------------------------|------|
| Hatton (Eastern) | L.E. |
| Evatt (Transylvania) | L.T. |
| Gruszkowski (Centre) | L.G. |

Those taking the test were: Gilbert Holbrook, J. B. Calloway, Norman Lyton, William Goodloe, Rudy Roark, William Sullivan, Preston Higgins, Gresham Houghland, Frank Giannini, Williams, and William Bryant.

DIDDLEMEN WIN 10 OF 11 GAMES

Defeated Only By Bradley Tech Five

The Hilltoppers have won ten of eleven games played so far this season in their march toward the seventh consecutive KIAC crown for the Diddlemen and toward a second consecutive annexing of the SIAA halo when the tournament is held here March 3-5.

A complete list of games and scores follows:

| Team | Oppon't | W |
|---------------------|---------|----|
| Lyle Greyhounds | 47 | 51 |
| Interstate Throwers | 21 | 38 |
| McKendree | 33 | 51 |
| Bradley Tech | 39 | 33 |
| Illinois College | 36 | 38 |
| McKendree | 28 | 37 |
| Catholic C. C. | 19 | 36 |
| Edentide | 28 | 34 |
| Fort Knox | 32 | 38 |
| Beechmont | 48 | 60 |
| S. E. Mo. Teachers | 25 | 27 |

This test is a normal requirement for entrance to a medical school and is designed to measure one's ability with material similar to that which he will have in medical school. The test also measures general information, scientific background, and the student's ability to draw accurate conclusions from a given set of data.

Speech Contest Stated

Prof. J. Reid Sherrett stated today that the contest to select Western's representative in the Kentucky Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest will be held on February 21.

The Western representative has won this contest for the past three years.

Dinner Given For FWA

A barbecue dinner was served to workmen on WPA projects at Western Tuesday, December 7, at the Livestock Pavilion. In addition to the workmen there were several college officials and officials of the WPA present.
